Jim Volk attended their meeting last Thursday and reported on an exciting idea to encourage artist with the Plein Air in the Smokies Event. Twenty artists will spend a week capturing the landscape at various locations in the Smokies.

Additionally on October 1st those artists along with other local artists will be in Maryville during the day to do paintings in and about the downtown area. That night there will be a showing at the Clayton Art Center. Tickets are $250 each and can be applied to the purchase of the artwork. The artist will receive 70% of the sale with the rest going to Friends of the Smokies. On October 2nd there will be a free showing at the Clayton Art Center with all the paintings available for purchase.
